What is EMR?

Constituting electric and magnetic field component, Electromagnetic Radiation (EMR) travels with the speed of light, and it imparts energy & momentum to the matter it hits. During the first half of the twentieth century harmful effects of radiation (now known as non-ionizing radiation) had become evident. In later part of 20th Century when the use of electromagnetic spectrum extended to mobile telecommunications, television transmitters, FM Radio Stations and also for Mobile Phones significant increase in the RF Level in various cities particularly in densely populated areas.

It is now a well known fact that Broadcasting and household electronic appliances create hazardous health effect due to emitting non-ionizing radiation. The mobile towers have mushroomed in the cities. In the hurry to increase network to cover wide areas and develop good communication range, such factors as the structural stability, heritage protection and radiation-induced ill effects have often been ignored, and the general public is left to the continuous (24x7) exposure to EMR which leads to permanent ill effect on human health and behaviour.
